

STRAWBERRY TIME

Is the Season in which the Kentucky Press Convention Should Be Held.

Through the courtesy of the Hopkinsville Kentuckian, the Capital is enabled to make this quotation from the Owensboro Messenger:

"The press meeting should be held this year in May. The constitutional meeting time is the first Thursday in June, but the Executive Committee may change it. The Republican National Convention meets June 7, and the Democratic National Convention June 22, and the State party conventions will probably be held a week or ten days respectively prior to these events. All of these conventions will conflict with the editorial meeting if it be held in June, and to hold it later would be a mistake. May is the most pleasant month of the year. A press convention in strawberry time at Lexington would be the proper thing."

The suggestion is a good one, so far as the meeting at Lexington is concerned, but if there is to be an excursion to the lakes, as proposed last year at Paducah, May is too early, as the excursion season does not open properly until June. However, the newspapers can make their wishes known for the guidance of the Executive Committee.—Frankfort Capital.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Attorney-General Hendrick.

Some of the newspapers are criticising Attorney-General Hendrick because of the opinions he is giving on the intent and meaning of the new Constitution, and the only apparent reason for the criticism is that the Attorney General was a member of the convention which framed that wonderful instrument. But they forget that Jack is that sort of a fellow who doesn't think he knows it all, and who doesn't believe that wisdom died with the convention.

It is true that the Attorney-General, when he was plain Jack Hendrick, signed the Constitution; but he signed it as attesting what had been done, and not because of a belief that it was perfect, nor that his mind would stagnate and his opinions never change. His opinions as Attorney General have been freely given when demanded in proper quarters, and are as clear as the opinions of a frank and manly man, and faithful and capable official should be.

And those who took him last August at the polls took him for what he is, not what they might have wanted him to be.—Covington Record.

La Grippe.

No healthy person need fear any dangerous consequences from an attack of la grippe if properly treated. It is much the same as a severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed for a severe cold and a prompt and complete recovery is sure to follow. This remedy also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it during the epidemics of the past two years we have yet to learn of a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Rose & Swango.

A Domestic Bar.

Florence, the actor, once gave some good advice to a friend in these words: "One gallon of whiskey costs about $3, and contains about 65 fifteen-cent drinks. Now, if you must drink, buy a gallon and make your wife the bar keeper. When you are dry give her fifteen cents for a drink, and when the whiskey is gone she will have, after paying for it, $6.75 left, and every gallon thereafter will yield the same profit. This money she should put away, so that when you have become an inebriate, unable to support yourself and shunned by every respectable man, your wife may have money enough to keep you until your time comes to fill a drunkard's grave."—New York Sun.

Cough Following the Grippe.

Many persons who have recovered from la grippe are now troubled with a persistent cough. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will promptly loosen this cough and relieve the lungs, effecting a permanent cure in a very short time. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Rose & Swango.

Working For All He's Worth.

Representative Kendall has received a long petition signed by the leading citizens of Lee and Estill counties, asking him to call on the Postmaster-General and urge the establishing of a mail route from Beattyville to Donnelly, and to extend the mail route between Irvine and Miller's Creek, so as to include Donnelly. Mr. Kendall says the increased mail facilities asked for are very important to the people living in Lee and Estill counties, and he believes that the Postmaster-General will grant the request and establish the mail routes.

Another Busy Congressman.

Representative Wilson, the lone Republican from Kentucky, is one of the busiest members of the delegation. His mail averages sixty letters per day, and they come from every section of the State. Every Kentucky Republican in office here seeking a promotion—and they all want promotion—feels that he has a lien on the member from the Eleventh district, and about ten times a day he is called out of the House to listen to the tale of woe of a constituent who has been on the Civil Service Commissioner's eligible list for the past six months or more without receiving the daily-looked-for notice of appointment. The constituent thinks—and does not hesitate to tell Representative Wilson—that all the member from the Eleventh district has to do is to call at the rooms of the Civil Service Commissioners and request that the name of this or that Kentuckian be sent up for appointment, and it will be done at once. Mr. Wilson does not seem annoyed by the demands made upon him, and he manages to get around the departments every day to look after matters in which his constituents are interested. He seldom goes to the White House except to introduce some Republican who is here on pleasure and not seeking an office.—Washington Letter.

Consumption Cured.

AN OLD physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by a simple vegetable remedy the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y. 4y1

Carlisle's Candidacy.

Possibly nothing except his residence in a Southern State—a Southern State, however, which adhered to the Union in the late war—prevents the present movement to promote the candidacy of Senator Carlisle for President from amounting to something serious. The eminent Kentuckian is confessedly a statesman and leader, and is orthodox on the two great questions of tariff and finances. It is significant that he seems to be urged as the fortunes of Mr. Cleveland appear to wane. Whether he could win the prize or not might depend on two or three considerations—the extent of opposition to the alleged Senatorial combine of Hill, Gorman and Brice, and the disposition of the convention to treat Kentucky as a Western, rather than a Southern State. In any event, the talk about Mr. Carlisle is a phase of the kaleidoscopic politics of the day that is worth noting.—Washington Star.

From Hotel Dellone.

Mr. C. W. Reed, proprietor of the hotel Dellone, Omaha, one of the finest new and modern hotels in the west, says of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy: "We have used it in our family for years with the most satisfactory results, especially for our children, for colds and croup. It can be depended upon; besides it is pleasant to take and seems to be free from chloroform and the oily substances put into many cough mixtures." 25 and 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Rose & Swango.

Under the New Constitution.

Under the new Constitution it seems that all bills, long or short, simple or foolish, constitutional or unconstitutional, practical or impractical, popular or unpopular, wise or otherwise, must be printed before they are read the third time. Many members now see that this is foolish and expensive.

Several bills have been presented to the Legislature that are strictly local in their nature. Under the new Constitution they can never become laws, yet, according to the same document, they must go through the same routine, cause the same loss of time, expense of printing, etc., as if they were genuine bills. Certainly the making of a new Constitution is not child's play.—Bardwell Star.

It is cooling and soothing. Hundreds of cases have been cured by it after all other treatment had failed. It is put up in 25 and 50 cent boxes. For sale by Rose & Swango. octyl1

The Objection Not Sustained.

"I will insert the item with pleasure," said the city editor, "as the gentleman it refers to is a nephew of yours, but I think I would change it a little." You say: "The public will be interested in knowing that Mr. Norville Ardup is about to embark in the lecture field." The expression is not strictly accurate. The figure is a faulty one. Persons embark in vessels or something of that kind, you know. They don't embark in a field.

"The figure is all right," said the old subscriber, after reflecting a moment, "I expect to float him."—Chicago Tribune.
